"THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE" PROMISED BY LOCAL ELKS IN 51ST ANNUAL NEW YEAR'S FEED, SHOW AND DANCE HERE SUNDAY NIGHT

The fifty-first annual New Year's Eve party of the Nevada City Elks Lodge No. 518, will feature a sin-tillating revue, tuned to the times, entitled "The Time of Your Life," according to Ed A. Frantz, Exalted Ruler of the lodge.

The revue is being produced by Frank Stewart and Chet Murschel and music is being furnished by Jerry Austin and his band, who for this event will carry the name of the "Elks Playboys."

Ed A. Frantz
Exalted Ruler

The two producers have promised laughs and songs by a cast which will include Bob Peterson, Lucy Murschel, Dorothy Jines, Berniece Gibson, Howard Jones, Mosco Smart, Bill Kohler, and Betty Rae Waddelow.

George Mathis, Nevada City's well known artist, has produced special effects to add to the scenic attractions of the show.

The producers plan to include old favorites on the musical program of the show and will include Nevertheless, Orange Colored Sky, Down the Lane, Strummin' on the Ol' Banjo, and Dixie Land Band.

Frantz announced the event is in charge of Harry Braghetta and Beryl Robinson, and the evening will start with a banquet at 7:30 p.m. The show is slated for 10 o'clock, followed by dancing. Verne Gullickson will dispense noise-makers to Elks and their guests at the entrance to the hall.

The committee in charge of the event is inaugurating a more liberal policy toward guests. Previously guests were restricted to out-of-town persons. This year members may bring guests from anywhere.

Frantz also released information about the California Elks Association major project of a charitable and benevolent nature adopted this year—a program of aid to children suffering from cerebral palsy and of aid to other physically handicapped children. Frantz said an association committee has been studying the problem of a worthy project for twenty years and had even created a sinking fund with which a project could be started. The cerebral palsy project was adopted at the September convention of California Elks in Sacramento.

Dr. Edward J. McCormick, Toledo, Ohio, physician and Elk who has been active in cerebral palsy field, said the program needs call for training of physiotherapists to aid in rehabilitation of patients, erection of modest treatment centers for the care of this disease and the staffing of the centers with capable workers.

Dr. McCormick said "Cerebral palsy is a condition caused by injury to the part of the brain that controls the motions of the individual. The damage may occur before, during or after birth and the great majority of cases are not caused by birth injury as many people are inclined to believe. Some of these children cannot walk or talk or use their hands well enough to feed themselves or to dress themselves."

No Traffic Fatalities Over Holidays Here

Nevada City and the district reported no traffic fatalities over the Christmas weekend—a three-day holiday period that witnessed the bloodiest toll of traffic in the nation, with 676 deaths reported.

Several minor accidents were reported to authorities in this area.

Melvin McGuire, 23, Nevada City, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Arthur Pepper Sunday on a California highway patrol warrant charging him with hit and run and reckless driving.

According to CHP, McGuire was the driver of an automobile which left the highway Saturday night and sheared off a power pole, wrecked a row of mail boxes and crashed through fence into Glenbrook Gas storage yard.

Pepper said McGuire drove away before officers arrived. He was released after being served with the citation.

Two cars were damaged early Tuesday when a car driven by William A. Peard, 38, Nevada City, crashed into parked car of Norman Harries on West Broad. Peard told city police he was on way to work in Grass Valley when the accident occurred.

Sunday morning a car operated by Ed C. Gary, Colfax highway, took out eight feet of railing on eastern approach of South Pine street bridge. Police said Gary apparently had a front wheel lock.

A car registered to John Harold Pauson, Stockton, was damaged when the car ran down Nevada street, crashed into a tree and struck a bank. Pauson said someone apparently attempted to steal the vehicle.

A driverless pickup truck ended in Deer creek Wednesday afternoon, when it rolled away from its parking space in front of the National hotel, sideswiped another parked pickup, struck a post in the Standard service station on its way.

Everett T. Treffren, Blue Tent, driver of the truck, said he had parked it while he went into the National hotel. Treffren thought perhaps the emergency brake released. The pickup of W. R. Peters, parked in front of the Hot Mill, received a damaged rear fender.

Workmen from Carl Ivey's garage required five hours and two tow trucks to remove the truck from the creek. The truck was heavily damaged.

A three-car collision at the intersection of York and Commercial Wednesday afternoon snarled traffic, resulted in property damage, but no personal injury.

The three-car crash involved vehicles driven by Mrs. June Seeberg, Blue Tent Road; Mrs. June Harlan, Route 1; and a parked car belonigng to Francis J. Corin, Grass Valley. Corin was cited for illegal parking.

SUTTER KIN MAY SUE NATION FOR PIONEER EMPIRE

Two Viennese descendants of Captain John Sutter, pioneer of California, whose namesake son lies buried in the Pioneer cemetery of Nevada City, are planning to sue the government for approximately three million dollars.

Sutter founded Sutters Fort, which became the first white settlement on the site of present-day Sacramento, and incident to its development was an associate of James Wilson Marshall, who prospected for gold in Nevada county in 1848 and discovered gold at Coloma.

Sutter's empire vanished in the rapid series of developments following the discovery of gold in the tail-race of the Coloma mill.

Dr. Andrew de Salza, Santa Barbara, who announced the contemplated suit, identified himself as a friend and agent of the descendants, Mrs. Emma Seuchter, and her nephew; Otto Olexy-Schoenobach. He said she is a granddaughter of Sutter's sister, Mrs. Sarah Sutter Kittinger.

De Salza said the government in 1914 offered to settle the descendants' claim for $300,000,000. The family was not interested at that time, he said, because it had large holdings in the grand duchy of Baden in Germany. This was lost during World War II, he added, and the descendants are ready to press the claim.

No court action will be taken, De Salza declared, until further investigation.

De Salza contends that after Sutter died in 1880 the government paid his sister, Mrs. Kittinger, $3,000 a month for an undetermined period.

Sutter, he said, owned 49,000 acres of land in the Sacramento valley, granted him by the governor of Mexico.

No recompense ever was made, De Salza claims, for the gold taken from the land during the gold rush of 1849, nor was his ownership of the land recognized after California became American soil.

SEVEN INDUCTED FROM DISTRICT LAST FRIDAY

The names of seven Nevada county youths who were inducted into the army last Friday just in time to spend Christmas in the service, were released for publication this week by Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, clerk of the local selective service board.

They are John Charles Vaughan, Nevada City; Carl Richard Forrest, Herbert Odell Hutchison, Douglas Wayne Greeley, Grass Valley; Fred Arthur Clark, North San Juan; John Thomas Rublin, John Allochis, Truckee.

Mrs. Stevens said the next induction call is for 20 men to report Tuesday, Jan. 9.

MATHIS MARIONETTE SHOWN IN OAKLAND

"Frosty the Snowman," a giant marionette, the creation of Jean Mathis, and animated by her husband, George, is delighting youngsters of the bay area in a display at Children's Fairyland, Lakeside park, Oakland.

Frosty, three feet high, alternately kicks his feet, raises his right hand and tips his hat while keeping time by tapping with a broom in his left hand.

Frosty will be on display in the Oakland park through Monday. He is made of papier-mache and terrycloth.

Mathis, in collaboration with Sven Skaar, recently completed an illustrated booklet on the bay area Fairyland, which is No. 3 of a series entitled "Trip Teasers."

Number 1 deals with highway 49 from Nevada City to Downieville. No. 2 covers the Sacramento river road from the state capital to Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.

Number 4 is tentatively scheduled to cover the Lake Tahoe area.

CAMPTONVILLE YOUTH ENTERED PYONGYANG

Pfc Earl F. Rose, son of Mrs. Louis Rose, Camptonville, was a member of the 127th Engineers, a part of the force that liberated Pyongyang, North Korea, before it was de-liberated by the Chinese Reds.

Rose is a machine gunner in company A of the engineer unit assigned to the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

On Oct. 20, Pfc Rose made a parachute jump behind enemy lines in the Sukchon area to cut off North Korean Forces in the Pyongyang sector. Rose also participated in the Kumpo Peninsula campaign.

GRANDSON TELLS OF BATTLE WITH GOOKS

A first hand picture of the odds faced by American fighting men in Korea is contained in a letter received here by Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Kirkham, Blue Tent, from their grandson, Frank Kirkham, a tank commander who took part in the 217-mile retreat during the last two weeks.

Kirkham's letter said in part: "It was not that they had better equipment than we had, but they had about 10 or 15 times as many men and more coming all the time.

"It is hell when 70 or 80 Gooks rush your tank just about barehanded and all you can do is try to get them before some wise guy throws a sachel charge on you. That is how they got one of my tanks. The entire crew jumped out okay but they were swarmed over and that is about all I know about what happened to them.

"All in all I lost 12 men, seven missing—most likely dead, two killed for sure and three wounded. They were the best and it was a big loss to me."

Kirkham served with the army of occupation in Germany following World War II. Shortly after re-enlisting he was sent to Korea with the Second division.

DR. PADGETT OFFICER OF MEDICAL GROUP

Dr. Vernon W. Padgett, Nevada county health officer, is newly elected vice president of Placer-Nevada-Sierra County Medical Association.

Dr. William Miller, Auburn, is to attend the state convention as delegate, with Dr. Harry March, Grass Valley, named as alternate.

ROBERT S. OGDEN, 70

ASSEMBLYMAN'S COMPENSATION IS BASIS OF SUIT

Assemblyman Francis C. Lindsay, Loomis, who represents this area in the lower house of the California legislature, was named defendant in a civil action filed Wednesday in Placer county by Placer County District Attorney C. E. Tindall. The action seeks to recover $5,090.87, Tindall states Lindsay collected for services and expenses in connection with the Upper American river project during his term as an assemblyman the past two years.

In the suit, filed in the name of Placer county, the district attorney also asks that Lindsay be compelled to pay 20 percent of the amount collected as "damages for the use thereof."

The complaint states the action is brought under the provisions of section 26525 of the state government code. Tindall states both the posts of assemblyman and employe of the upper American river project constitute services to two state agencies in violation of the code.

In a second cause of action Tindall seeks to collect $515.75 from Lindsay for services to Placer county on behalf of the same project during October, November and December, 1948, before Lindsay became an assemblyman. An additional 20 percent penalty also is asked.

The complaint states this sum represents money charged to and collected from both Placer and El Dorado countie.

It is charged the amount represents claims paid by the counties, computed for "identical time spent and alleged expenses incurred."

The complaint states Lindsay was not entitled to be paid by Placer county because he had been compensated for the identical time spent and expenses incurred in El Dorado county.

The suit also sets forth that on Oct. 4, 1948, the board of supervisors employed Lindsay to assist in filing applications for water, power and storage rights on the waters to be impounded in the Upper American River Project, set the rate of compensation at $2.50 per hour, and his mileage at eight cents.

It says Lindsay was appointed executive secretary-manager of the project on Dec. 8, 1948.

With the complaint are filed supporting documents covering all amounts of the individual claims in question, both in El Dorado and Placer counties.

Lindsay qualified as assemblyman from the sixth California district on Jan. 3, 1949. He was re-elected to the office at the June, 1950, primaries, and is to start his second term next month.

The above original sketch by George Mathis, Nevada City artist, depicts the partially completed home of Bob and Ruth Paine, who are among our community's most popular couples. The home, located at the city limits on Zion street, is of redwood frame construction, with an interior of gumwood veneer. This is the first unit of a home that will eventually consist of five rooms. Construction was by Lawrence Carter of Nevada City. The Paines moved into the home yesterday. Plans for the home were started June 25, two days before the Korean war started, and with Bob's contact with the spiraling prices of the past six months, he a staunch Republican, has given considerable thought toward favoring controls of prices and wages.

WAR IS PROFITLESS—OR SHOULD BE

It is not given to us to understand all the factors which brought us from a world power, check-mating Fascism in World War II, to a punty ten-division nation faced with bulge-muscled Communism in 1950.

None of us knows if better leadership, more acutely aware of the check-and-balance history of world order, could have remained on the crest of power to offset rival power from 1945 to 1950. None of us can tell if the signs of trouble in Korea dating back to 1946 and the signs of trouble in Berlin dating back to 1946 should not have meant more to clear-eyed statesmen than it has meant to practical politicians bent on staying in office.

In fact few of us can claim much more foresight individually than has been dsplayed nationally. Certainly a portion of the grave error of the past half-decade has been of our making, from the momma-vote which got Johnnie home by Christmas (1945) without providing for Junior to replace him in uniform, to the business-as-usual vote and the labor vote which had to be coddled for domestic political advantage.

Cause being lost to our ken, and effect being heaped upon us with such weight that we are faced with a second phase of World War II no better prepared than in 1941, all that is left to us is the carrying out of orders of military command or bureau policy.

But, though hind-sight is often scorned, we can expect that by an examination of the mistakes made in running a nation under one emergency government, our leaders can avoid the same mistakes in operation of another emergency situation approaching martial rule.

Although our president sometimes seems to be a small-bore Nero-at-the-piano, we can hope that he and his advisors have examined the period 1939 to 1945 with critical inspection of the value of the cost-plus contract, profiteering, overtime-on-overtime, feather-bedding and duplication on the job, the disgrace of black market operations and other companions of a wartime ecenomy which make a mockery of patriotism and sacrifice in the field.

Naturally labor and capital need incentive to produce; the dog-face in the mud and snow gets his incentive from fear of losing his life if he fails.

Naturally the overtime-on-overtime buttering of palms gets the planes built; the boys who fly them aren't in a position to say "my contract calls just for flying the aireplane; you'll have to get a man from another union to fire the guns and another man to drop the bombs."

Naturally the cost-plus contract is a plum worth the while of ship builders to secure; the crew that takes that ship through a mine field knows only one profit: to stay alive and thus protect your life.

Naturally a black-market operator will rise from the muck to take advantage of short-sighted consumers; the kid making a beach head landing may cost the government $15,000, which will shoot even higher if grab and greed blow the inflationary balloon fatter and fatter.

We have a rigid law for drafting men to do our fighting for us. We pay them a fixed amount for their services, which is putting a price tag on their lives. We tell them where they will go, against what superior force they will fight, what weapons we will give them—and we don't allow them the privilege of democratic decision if they think the orders are wrong.

We have a draft law for war because voluntary enlistments just won't do the job. We lay down military law fore the operation of an army because under wartime conditions the luxury of taking a vote is absurd.

Profits and wages should be as severely drafted; contracts and union regulations contrary to the best interest of preserving a nation should be as expendable.

For the reason that today an army is not an entity separate from the national government we will remain free or slave upon the ability of that army successfully to withstand Communism. We cannot ask of soldiers that they display patriotism while dying and at the same time make millionaires of manufacturers and provide Cadillac-wages for cotton pickers turned welders.

The national poverty of hard-headed leadership to retain the advantages gained for us at the end of World War II must not be allowed to provide again a division of effort in which one portion of our people fight and die for freedom while another portion of our people grab and connive for exorbitant personal gain.

If a national emergency is cause enough to get our boys prepared to die, it is cause enough to crack down with full force upon those who would use our dire plight as a lever to extract usurious percentages from the nation's war-bank.

And if the president and his advisors are not aiming straight and true at the target of national salvation and preservation of the freedoms and liberties of enlightened mankind, while at the same time retaining militant guard against criminal evils of war profiteering in all its ugly forms, then we must act through our congressional representatives to bring an end to sloppy and expedient management of a nation in grave peril.

For the United States of America is not only our land and our government, it is our life. We must grow strong and we must aim straight to keep a ruthless enemy in check. There is no moment in this threatening time for waste and greed and self seeking. And there is no place for soft headedness or profits as usual, politics as usual.

We cannot fail, even by degree.—scissored from the Placerville Mountain Democrat.

A BOUQUET FOR THE POSTOFFICE STAFF

Taking things "easy" by returning to normal volume, the clerks and carriers of William J. Wasley's postoffice staff have earned a well-deserved bouquet of praise and thanks from their patrons. The Nevada City postoffice remained open evenings as long as there were customers that last hectic week before Christmas. And delivery service of parcels was given Sunday in an effort that would provide as much Christmas as possible for local residents. In our two years of residence here we have seen consistently better service by the Nevada City postoffice than by any other governmental office anywhere, anytime.

Perhaps the reason there wasn't as much mistletoe about this season as in years gone by, is that the modern miss doesn't need the stuff to lure a kiss.

We understand "Red" Milton blew his top the other day when a candy purchaser wanted him to pick out 25 red and 25 green jellybeans from an assortment of colors, so a string of red and green candies could be placed on a Christmas tree.

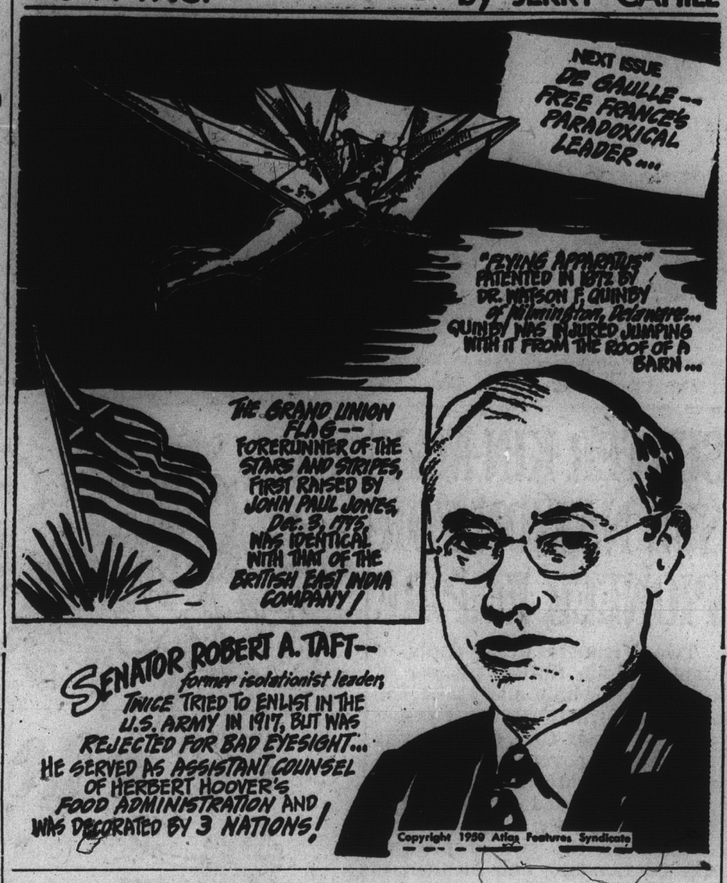

Ernie Young, Santa's side-kick in these here parts, said his red-coated friend got this amazing answer last week to the question of what the youngster wanted: "!?$X—! Didnt you get my letter yet!"

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS:

By CLAIR ENGLE

The Senate passed and sent to the White House a bill by Congressman Clair Engle to reimburse 15 states for an accumulated 26-year shortage in their share of forest ervice grazing fees.

If the bill is signed into law it is estimated the states will receive $1,351,149 of which California's share is approximately $127,000.

Engle said that due to an erroneous ruling of a department of agriculture solicitor, the forest service has not been diverting the full 25 percent of grazing fees, as required by law, for the benefit of public roads and schools of the counties in which the forests are located.

According to the forest service the 18 counties of the second congressional district have the following amounts due them:

Alpine, $4,530.77; El Dorado, $4,941.75; Calaveras, $1,009.84; Inyo, $3,955.40; Mono, $8,797.60; Mariposa, $1,337.92; Lassen, $5,658.48; Nevada, $1,547.39; Amador, $816.24; Modoc, $19,558.38; Placer, $2,566.17; Shasta, $3,759.10; Tehama, $1,913.74; Sierra, $3,777.98; Plumas, $8,377.42; Tuolumne, $6,679.99; Siskiyou, $8,227.39; Trinity, $4,255.57.

"Legislative steps have now been taken to provide that the counties from now on will receive their full 25 percent of grazing fees. This will not, of course, in any way affect the range improvement program of which I am in full accord," Engle said.

The Bible: Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste. TWO PERCENT INTEREST ON SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Intention on part of directors and management of the Bank of America to pay a substantially increased rate of savings interest in 1951 has been announced by L. M. Giannini, president.

Under the new schedule it is contemplated that a rate of two percent per annum, compounded semi-annually, will be earned by savings deposits in all individual pass book accounts in the Bank of America starting Jan. 1, 1951, compared with the rate of 1½ percent which applied during the past years.

President Giannini stated that this course was not only a reward for thrift but also in line with the bank's established policy to pass along to depositors, stockholders and employes the benefits of continuing satisfactory operations.

During 1950, he said, employes received a general increase in salaries plus an additional approximately one and a half months salary to participating employes by way of profit sharing bonus, and dividends to the stockholders increased 20 percent. In addition to being the world's greatest non-government bank, he pointed out, the Bank of America is the largest savings bank, and as such, so long as it is possible to do so, it seems appropriate to pay a rate as high as that paid by many of the large savings banks of the U. S.
